GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to give effect to certain articles of the International Convention for the suppression of the circulation of, and traffic in, Obscene Publications was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 11th February 1925 :—

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to whom the Bill to give effect to certain articles of the International Convention for the suppression of the circulation of, and traffic in, Obscene Publications, was referred, have examined the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

III—1

2. We have considered at length the desirability of extending the scope of the Exception to new section 292 of the Indian Penal Code so as to cover religious, artistic and scientific writings, etc., but we have come to the conclusion that it would be difficult to do so without including writings, etc., which are not bona fide of the nature stated. Further, there is a substantial body of case law which makes it clear that bona fide religious, artistic and scientific writings, etc., are not obscene within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

3. We have proposed to amend clause 3 of the Bill so as to limit the power of issuing warrants to District, Presidency and Sub-Divisional Magistrates and to add a new clause, clause 4, by which a person accused of offence under new sections 292 and 293 may claim to be tried by jury by a Court of Session. If then the accused person contends that the writings, etc., in question are not of an obscene nature and he is of opinion that the issue of fact involved will not be easy to decide, he can have the case referred to a thoroughly competent tribunal.

We do not recommend any further change in the Bill.

4. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 6th September 1924.

5. We think that the Bill has not been so altered as to require republishing, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

MINUTE OF DISSENT.

An offence under section 292 of the Indian Penal Code is at present punishable with three months' imprisonment and is triable by a Magistrate of the First or Second class.

The majority of the Committee in proposing new clause 4 suggest that in the option of the accused the trial should be by a Court of Session with a jury. The law as it stands has been in force for many years and I am unable to agree that so drastic a change in procedure is necessitated by the Bill. The only change in punishment which the Bill makes is the enhanced punishment provided for by the new section 293 which it proposes to add to the Code, enhancing the punishment to six months in the case of offences by respect of young persons. The Committee appear to be alarmed at the prospect of a large number of additional offences under the law as amended being brought to trial and to fear that Courts would adopt an unreasonable interpretation of the word "obscene".

* Subject to Minute of Dissent.

The law appears to have been well settled by the various High Courts and there seems no reason to suppose that Magistrates will go wrong on the law laid down by those Courts.

In the circumstances, therefore, I regret I cannot agree with the view taken by the Committee on this point. My personal view is that the apprehensions would be met by providing that the trial of these cases should be restricted to Presidency Magistrates and First Class Magistrates which, with the safeguard of an appeal, would seem to be sufficient.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The several high courts of judicature established by letters patent are superior courts of record, and as such they have power to attach and commit for acts amounting to contempt of their own proceedings as contempt of court, and without reference to whether the acts alleged constitute an offence under the Indian Penal Code. Different views have, however, been held by the various high courts in regard to their power to punish for such contempts committed in regard to proceedings in courts which are subordinate to them. The Madras High Court is the case of in re Venkates Rao (21, Madras Law Journal, 487) and the Bombay High Court in the case of King Emperor v. P. G. Kulkarni (34, Bombay Law Reporter, 16) have held that they possess this power to protect their subordinate courts against such contempts. The Calcutta High Court, on the other hand, in the case of King Emperor v. Girdhara Nyhas Das and others (17, Calcutta Weekly Series, 1145) and of Legal Remembrance v. Mohi Lal Ghose (L. L. R. 4, Calcutta, 175) has taken a contrary view. In cases in which it is held that the power to attach and commit curtails the powers of the courts are so restricted as are the powers of superior courts of record in England. It has not been decided whether the Courts of the Judicial Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Oudh, and Sind have those general powers either in regard to contempt of their own proceedings or of the proceedings of courts subordinate to them. In England, in addition to the powers of the superior courts of record to attach and commit for contempt of court, contempts of courts are also indictable misdemeanours at common law. In India, on the other hand, though the Indian Penal Code makes certain acts which would be punishable as contempt of court in England specific offences, it does not provide generally for the punishment of contempt of the authority of judicial officers not associated in their provinces.

2. The condition of the law in India as summarised above has long been regarded as unsatisfactory, and in 1914 a Bill was introduced in the Indian Legislative Council which would have increased the classes of acts of contempt of court punishable as offences under the Indian Penal Code, but it was not proceeded with owing to the war. The present Bill proposes to declare and amend the law as aforesaid. Instead of increasing the classes of acts punishable as contempt of court after trial by magistrates, the Bill restricts the power to protect subordinate courts against contempts which are not already provided for in the Indian Penal Code to the high courts themselves. The Bill resolves any doubts as to the powers of the high courts of judicature in regard to the protection of their subordinate courts from such contempt. It will show clearly that the Courts of the Jubaland Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Outh and Sind, will have the same powers of punishing for contempt committed in regard to their own proceedings or of the proceedings of courts subordinate to them. In lieu of the existing unqualified powers of the high courts of judicature it will define the nature of the offences of contempt of court and the extent of the punishment which may be awarded. Finally, it has the inherent powers of the high courts as dealt with such offences.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to bring Schedule II to the Indian Tariff Act, 1894 (VIII of 1894), up to date by incorporating in it alterations already in force by virtue of notifications issued under section 23 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (VIII of 1878). These notifications represent in many cases rulings by the Government of India on questions relating to the interpretation of the Statutory Tariff Schedules. Opportunity has also been taken to include in the Bill certain other proposals. These proposals are dealt with separately below. They are included in a separate Tariff Bill, merged of in the Finance Bill because they have not been made primarily with reference to the revenues of 1925-26.

2. Sugar.—The present import duty on sugar is an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent., assessed on a tariff valuation which is calculated for each calendar year on the average price during the twelve months ending the previous September. This method of assessment causes inconvenient fluctuations in the revenue receipts from year to year, which will be largely avoided by the substitution of a specific for an ad valorem rate of duty. Sugar is moreover an article well suited for specific duties and, in fact, specific duties on sugar are adopted by most countries. It is proposed to convert the existing 25 per cent. ad valorem duty into an equivalent specific duty, viz., Rs. 4-8-0 a Cwt. on sugar 25 Dutch Standard and above Rs. 4-0-0 a Cwt. on sugar between 25 and 3 Dutch Standard.

3. Cigarettes.—A specific duty of Rs. 8 per thousand on cigarettes in place of the present ad valorem duty of 75 per cent., is proposed. Ad valorem duties which are based by law on market values are difficult to administer at outlying ports or customs stations, if uniformity of assessment throughout India is to be secured. Also it is not simple to determine what is the market price of unknown marked imports of regulation. When an ad valorem duty is as high as 75 per cent, these difficulties lead to undue discretion in assessment. Cigarettes and articles well suited for specific duties, and many importers prefer them in place of ad valorem ones. A change to specific should thus both simplify Customs administration and meet importers' necessities.

4. Silk mixtures.—An intermediate rate of import duty, say, 50 per cent, is proposed on silk mixtures. The present wide difference in rates between silk goods and other textiles causes constant difficulty to traders and at Customs House. It is therefore considered desirable to have a special entry in the Schedule for silk mixtures which will be defined as having silk in warp or weft or silk superimposed. If the fabric has silk in both warp and weft, it will be assessed as silk.

5. Draw or Steel—Wire and Cordage.—This proposal merely aims at rectifying an error in the Schedule to the Sugar Industry (Protection) Act, 1924. It has been held that the inclusion of the words "draw and circles" in Item C1 of the Schedule and the fact that they are not specifically mentioned in Items 147 and 148 make all draw and circles assessable at 10 per cent, although they may be cut from plates and sheets coming under Items 147 and 148.

6. The amendments, which are not already in force, are intended to come into effect from the seventh day after this Bill becomes law, except in regard to the specific rates on sugar, which will have effect from the day three months after this Bill becomes law.

Meaning the following paper:—

Letter from A. MALLON, Esq., I.C.S., Deputy Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department to all Provincial Governments and Major Local Governments, dated Delhi, the 2nd January 1925, No. F. 250-0.3.M.—34.

[Subject:—Applicability of Fundamental Rule 45 to a Government servant on leave.]

A case has been brought to the notice of the Government of India, in which an officer provided with a Government residence who was paying a provisional rate of rent whilst the residence during leave on that rate. During his absence the standard rent of the building was fixed at a figure which was higher than both the provisional rate of rent and 50 per cent of the emoluments of the officer. The question which then arose was whether the officer in question should not be made to pay the full standard rent limited to 10 per cent of his emoluments, as it is nowhere definitely laid down that Fundamental Rule 45 is applicable to Government servants on leave. The Government-General in Council has decided under Fundamental Rule 3 that Fundamental Rule 45 applies to Government servants on leave and that in such cases the officers on leave are liable for the full assessed tax subject to the 15 per cent limit.

NOTIFICATION.

Fort St. George, February 11, 1925. (G.O. No. 110, Finance).

No. 38.—The following Government Order is published for information:—

Since the introduction of the present constitution, under the Government of India Act, a number of the functions hitherto exercised by the Accountant General has been transferred to the Local Government. One of the most important of these functions is concerned with the watching of the progress of expenditure throughout the year. Both in theory and in practice the responsibility should rest on the heads of the departments in which the expenditure is incurred, but the latter have, with rare exceptions, relied in the past on the Accountant General, who has been required to intimate to heads of departments the actual expenditure that is from month to month incurred. The figures which the Accountant General has hitherto been able to furnish are however collated and compiled at a lengthy interval, often two months, after the expenditure has taken place. Such a system affords little real check on the expenditure of disbursing and drawing officers and presents to heads of departments and other controlling officers but small opportunity for observing the rate and correctness of the disbursements. In future it is proposed, by transferring the care of observation and check to disbursing and controlling officers, to substitute a pre- or concurrent check and an early scrutiny for what is at present a delayed ex post facto examination. The Audit Code declares in precise and definite terms that it is the authority administering a grant that is responsible for maintaining a close watch on appropriations from the grant and for keeping the expenditure within the limits of the grant. The Public Accounts Committee, which has, since the Government of India Act came into force, been constituted in each Province for the express purpose of scrutinizing appropriations and reporting on financial irregularities, has requested that early steps be taken to ensure the adoption by heads of departments of improved methods of watching and controlling expenditure. The system that is now to be prescribed has been devised in order to secure the realization of that end.

2. It is recognized that it is desirable, as far as possible, to adopt a system of control that will combine simplicity with efficiency, and, with that end in view, it has been decided that the estimates, the accounts, and the registers of expenditure shall be framed on the same basis and that the most suitable basis is to be found in "units of appropriation." In future therefore the budget estimates, the treasury accounts, and the registers to be prescribed for controlling and disbursing officers will be framed with the units of appropriation as their pivot. The structure will consist of:—

Major heads of account.	Sub-heads of account.
Minor heads of account.	Units of appropriation.

In the interest of simplification, it has further been decided that only two forms of register shall be prescribed for disbursing and controlling officers, and for all forms of expenditure, in the departments to which this order is to be applied. The forms of the registers are printed as an annexure to this order. A list of the primary and secondary units will be found in Appendix I to this order, and a list of items falling under the units will be found in Appendix II.

3. It is the primary duty of heads of departments, and of other officers who submit estimates to Government, who will hereinafter, for the purpose of this order, be designated chief controlling officers, to keep their expenditure within their sanctioned appropriations. It is essential that they should have a correct idea of the progress of expenditure, and a knowledge of the liabilities still to be incurred, and that this knowledge should be kept up to date.

To this end subordinate officers to whom budget grants have been distributed should maintain accurate accounts of expenditure as it is incurred and keep their controlling officers regularly informed as to the progress of expenditure. In the result, the chief controlling officers will be in a position constantly and continuously to examine the rate of expenditure in relation to the sanctioned appropriations and to ensure that at the end of a year there are no excesses over appropriations requiring an explanation to the Government or to the Committee on Public Accounts.

4. The powers of reappropriation exercised by heads of departments and other officers of Government prior to the introduction of the Government of India Act have not till now been revised with reference to the Act and the rules framed thereunder, and it has been found necessary, simultaneously with the introduction of the present scheme and in anticipation of the issue of the projected Book of Financial Powers, to revise the existing powers of reappropriation. The powers delegated by Members and Ministers with the sanction of the Finance Department to Chief Controlling Officers are contained in Appendix III to this Order.

5. Detailed instructions as to the method of control, the forms of the registers in which the accounts of controlling and disbursing officers are to be maintained and other cognate matters are annexed to this order. A list of chief and subordinate controlling officers and of disbursing officers, arranged and tabulated in accordance with the main heads of expenditure, is attached as Appendix IV.

6. Articles III and IV of the Instructions deal with the communication and distribution of grants. In the following instances appropriations are not communicated to any chief controlling officer but are retained in the hands of Government, expenditure therefrom being controlled with the assistance of monthly statements obtained from the Accountant General showing the progress of expenditure against the appropriations, and these have not been mentioned in Appendix IV:—

All major heads—Minor head Loss or Gain by Exchange.

Major head 5. Land Revenue—Minor heads Assignments and Compensations.

Major head 9. Registration—Deduct—Portion of charges to be borne by the Central Government for work in connexion with Registration of Joint Stock Companies.

Major head 11. Interest on works for which capital accounts are kept.

Apart from the appropriations retained under the direct control of Government, article IV. A. specifies a number of appropriations which should, in the opinion of Government, be retained undistributed in the hands of chief controlling officers: and the latter have been authorized to add to the number at their discretion.

7. Rules 1, 2 and 3 of article VII deal with disbursements, the record of which in the accounts is based on duplicate bills forwarded to the officers recording the expenditure by treasury and sub-treasury officers. Each chief controlling officer will decide whether such expenditure should be recorded by himself or by a subordinate controlling or disbursing officer and should, in the latter case, nominate the officer responsible for accounting for such expenditure. The chief controlling officer should draw up detailed lists and communicate them to treasury officers before the scheme of control prescribed in this order comes into force. In the preparation of the lists care should be taken to ensure that duplicate bills are sent only to those officers to whom an appropriation has been allotted to cover the particular class of disbursement.

8. In articles VIII and IX of the Instructions disbursing and subordinate controlling officers are directed to submit their accounts to their superior controlling officer after such reconciliation with the treasury as may have been prescribed by the chief controlling officer. The detailed instructions and forms provide for the record of expenditure by treasury districts in order that the chief controlling officer and the Accountant General may be in a position to locate discrepancies without unnecessary difficulty. Such reconciliation would be further facilitated if, at each stage of the compilation, the departmental accounts could be compared with the treasury accounts. Where the disbursing officer is the only officer in the district incurring the expenditure, the verification of all items of expenditure with the treasury figures can be made by him. Where, however, there is a number of officers in the same district who are incurring expenditure under the same head of account, e.g., Tahsilwars, the district treasury officer cannot verify the figures of each of the disbursing officers without an unjustifiable waste of time and labour. In such cases the subordinate controlling officer in the district, e.g., the Collector, can reconcile with the treasury figures the total disbursements under his control. Where there are two disbursing or subordinate controlling officers operating on the same district treasury with no superior controlling officer in the district, e.g., two Superintendents of Police in Malabar, the reconciliation will have to be effected, not by the disbursing officer or by the subordinate controlling officer with the district treasury, but by the chief controlling officer with the Accountant General.

Chief controlling officers are therefore requested to draw up, in consultation with treasury officers, and to submit to Government for their information, a list of all disbursing and subordinate controlling officers who should be required to reconcile their figures with the treasury figures before they are forwarded to the superior controlling authority.

9. Chief controlling officers are required to send in their statements to the Accountant General by the 28th of the month following that to which the accounts relate, but the dates of submission of accounts by disbursing and subordinate controlling officers have not been fixed, as the dates will depend on the existence, or absence, of a subordinate controlling officer and on the degree of reconciliation with the treasury figures that is prescribed. Chief controlling officers are requested to fix suitable dates with due regard to these considerations and to report them for the information of Government.

10. In order to ensure that the instructions are followed and the registers correctly maintained, it is directed that all inspecting officers should, in the course of their inspection, satisfy themselves that the prescriptions contained in this order are clearly understood and carefully observed.

11. The main resultant change from the existing procedure is that, although the Accountant General will still maintain classified accounts which will be authoritative as regards expenditure under any particular head, departmental officers will independently maintain their own accounts in order that they may more adequately control expenditure. The classification of bills by disbursing officers will also tend to the same end and the monthly reconciliation between the accounts maintained by departmental officers and those maintained by the Accountant General is a necessary sequel to the independent maintenance of two separate accounts.

12. The scheme will be brought into effect on the 1st April 1925. All chief and subordinate controlling and disbursing officers should have their registers printed at the Government Press in the prescribed forms and should inform the Superintendent of the Press of the size of the registers required in their department and the number of sheets or pages that are necessary. They should have their registers prepared in advance of that date in sufficient time to admit of the immediate introduction of the new system.

13. Separate orders and instructions will be issued in regard to the Forest Department, the Buildings and Roads and Irrigation Branches of the Public Works Department and Central subjects administered by the local Government as agents of the Central Government, which will be excluded from the operation of this order and the instructions attached thereto.

14. The Superintendent, Government Press, is authorized to comply with requisitions from chief controlling officers for additional copies of these proceedings for distribution to subordinate controlling and disbursing officers.

R. W. DAVIES,

DETAILED INSTRUCTIONS.

I.—DEFINITIONS.

Chief Controlling officers.—Heads of departments and other officers who send estimates direct to Government.

Subordinate Controlling Officers.—Intermediate controlling officers subordinate to a chief controlling officer.

Disbursing Officers.—Every Government officer who draws money from the treasury on bills, other than gazetted officers who are not heads of offices and who draw only their own pay and allowances from the treasury, is a disbursing officer.

II.—UNITS OF APPROPRIATION.

For the purpose of financial control, the budget appropriation under each minor head of account is divided into sub-heads which are again divided into primary units of appropriation, the latter being further subdivided, where necessary, into secondary units of appropriation.

III.—COMMUNICATION OF GRANTS.

As soon as the Legislative Council has voted the grant for the service or administration of a particular department, the Finance Department will communicate to the chief controlling officer concerned the amounts so voted, as well as the provision made on account of appropriations that relate to non-voted expenditure. The particular attention of chief controlling officers will be called to votes that are in reduction of a demand, as no addition can be made in the case of a demand so reduced without the sanction of the Council. The amounts will be communicated in the form of lump sums allotted under minor heads and sub-heads of account and distributed over the appropriate primary and secondary units of appropriation. A copy of the order communicating the distribution will be sent to the Secretary to Government in the administrative department concerned and to the Accountant General.

2. Should the sanctioned estimates include provision for expenditure in England, the Finance Department will communicate to the chief controlling officer the amount allotted for such expenditure. A similar intimation will be sent to the Auditor, India Office, and to the High Commissioner or the Accountant General at the India Office.

IV.—DISTRIBUTION BY THE CHIEF CONTROLLING OFFICER.

The chief controlling officer will distribute the amounts allotted to him among his subordinate controlling officers, if any, and the disbursing officers who work under his direct control. Subordinate controlling officers will distribute the amounts at their disposal among the disbursing officers who are subordinate to them.

In making the distribution the following considerations should be borne in mind :—

A. The chief controlling officer should not distribute his allotment against any unit, the expenditure under which it is considered desirable to control on a provincial basis.

In the following instances no distribution should be made :—

(i) Under "7. Stamps"—

(a) MINOR HEAD "7-A. a. Stamps—Non-judicial—Charges for the sale of Stamps", UNIT "Honoraria—Non-voted", Discount on sale of General Stamps.

(b) MINOR HEAD "7-B. a. Stamps—Judicial—Charges for the sale of Stamps", UNIT "Honoraria—Non-voted", Discount on sale of Court-fee Stamps.

(c) MINOR HEAD "7-B. b. Stamps—Judicial—Stamps supplied from Central Stores".

(ii) GRANTS-IN-AID—All units of appropriation.

(iii) UNIT "Charges payable to Governments, departments and others".

(iv) UNITS "Pay of officers" and "Pay of Establishments".

(v) MINOR HEAD "Deduct—Refunds", under all the major heads of Revenue and Receipts.

In other cases it is left to the discretion of the chief controlling officer to decide whether to retain the full allotment under his own control or to distribute the allotment among his subordinate controlling or disbursing officers.

B. Chief and subordinate controlling officers should hold in reserve, out of the amounts communicated to them, adequate provision to meet

(i) further appropriations to supplement deficiencies,

(ii) reappropriations.

V.—INTIMATE OF ACCOUNTS CLASSIFICATION.

In communicating the distribution to disbursing officers, chief and subordinate controlling officers should be careful to intimate the complete accounts classification of each class of expenditure with which the officer is concerned, i.e., the major, minor and sub-heads and the primary and secondary units of appropriation.

VI.—ACCOUNTS OF DISBURSING OFFICERS.

1. (a) Every disbursing officer should maintain accounts in the attached form A. A separate register or separate pages of the same register should be maintained for each major head of account and the amounts placed at his disposal under each minor head, sub-head, primary and secondary unit of appropriation should be entered therein. If no allotment has been made under any particular head or unit and the disbursing officer is required to meet his expenditure thereunder against a lump sum at the disposal of the controlling officer, no allotment should be entered, but the appropriate heading should be opened to classify the expenditure incurred under the concerned head and unit [vide IV. A].

Should the allotment under any unit be increased or decreased by a higher authority, the figure for the allotment should be corrected by a plus or minus entry in red ink.

Note.—Chief and subordinate controlling officers should also maintain accounts in form A in respect of expenditures directly incurred by them.

(b) Whenever a bill is presented for payment at the treasury, it should be marked clearly with the complete account classification, i.e., major, minor and sub-heads and primary and secondary units of appropriation. Treasury officers are authorized to refuse payment if this rule is not complied with.

(c) As each bill is cashed at the treasury, it should be posted in the appropriate columns in the prescribed form. Postings will be classified by treasury districts in order to facilitate the reconciliation of the figures with the treasury figures and the location and reconciliation of discrepancies between the figures of the Accountant General and of the chief controlling officers.

Note (1).—In regard to the pay and allowances of village establishments (both permanent and temporary) and the charges relating to contingents, it will be entered in, instead of posting the individual bills as they are cashed, the monthly totals are posted from the data submitted in Special Fund Code Forms 14, 15 and 16 and posted in section IV of the register before the entries are struck in section V.

(2).—Similarly in regard to disbursements of loans under the Land Improvement Loans Act and the Agricultural Loans Act, the monthly figures should be taken from the duly loan disbursement sheets and posted in section IV before the totals are struck in section V.

An isolated payment in another district may be indicated in the remarks column. Where, however, a disbursing officer has to make frequent payments in a number of districts, separate portions of the same form may be set apart for recording the transactions in each district, or a separate page may be opened for each district, with an additional page for the totals.

2. Disbursing officers who have dealings with sub-treasuries should close their accounts in accordance with the dates of the closing of the sub-treasury accounts. An officer dealing with a number of sub-treasuries which close their accounts on different dates, should, so far as his transactions with each sub-treasury are concerned, close his accounts with regard to those transactions on the date on which each sub-treasury closes its accounts. Similarly, if a disbursing officer has, in addition to transactions with sub-treasuries, transactions with a District Treasury as well, he should close his accounts of transactions with the District Treasury on the date on which the latter closes its accounts. In the month of March all transactions of the month should be entered up to, and including, the last day of the month. Transactions of a month which take place in the month after the accounts of the month have been closed should be included in the accounts of the following month. Large payments made after the closing of the treasury or sub-treasury accounts should, however, be indicated in the remarks column of the report (VIII infra) of a disbursing officer to his immediate controlling officer, for the information of the latter.

3. Disbursing officers should include in their register (form A) the pay and allowances of gazetted subordinates who are not heads of offices and who draw from the treasury only their own pay and allowances.

4. In posting the account in form A, disbursing officers should bring forward to section III the figures in section

VII of the previous month's accounts. Liabilities incurred during the month on account of supplies ordered and expected to be received and paid for during the year should be entered in section VIII (b). Payments made on account of liabilities discharged should be posted against the heading (c) in the same section as soon as the liabilities have been discharged, simultaneously with the entry of the disbursements or adjustments in section IV or VI.

VII.—SPECIAL DISBURSEMENTS.

Bills for grants-in-aid (except those to the University under the major head "31. A. Education—University" and to local bodies for water-supply and drainage under the major head "33. Public Health"), scholarships, donations (except those to scientific societies under the major head "30. Scientific Departments"), and contributions (except those under the major head "47. Miscellaneous") drawn by persons not in Government service.—Every person, other than a Government officer, presenting a bill chargeable to Government should attach thereto a duplicate in a coloured form distinctly headed "Not payable at the Treasury". The treasury officer should forward every such duplicate with a certificate of payment to the specified officer, so that the latter may enter the payment in his register of disbursements (form A), with a note in the remarks column to distinguish the item from his own drawings. Chief controlling officers should arrange, in consultation with their subordinate controlling and disbursing officers, to which of those officers the duplicate bills should be forwarded by the treasury officer.

2. Leave salaries of gazetted officers.—Gazetted officers on leave within the Presidency should similarly be required to submit duplicate bills, one of which should be coloured and headed "Not payable at the Treasury". Such duplicate bills should be forwarded by the treasury officers, with a certificate of payment, to the chief controlling officer of the department concerned, for inclusion in his account of disbursements.

3. Government officers, whose services have been lent to local bodies, and whose pay and allowances are chargeable direct to Government.—The pay and allowances of such officers should be drawn on duplicate bills in the manner prescribed in rules 1 and 2 above, and the duplicate should be forwarded by the treasury officer to the chief controlling officer or to the subordinate officer specified by him.

4. Transfer of officers or subordinates from one department to another.—Difficulties in accounting are likely to arise in the case of officers or subordinates who are transferred in the course of a month from one department to another. To avoid these difficulties, it is essential that, when an officer or subordinate is transferred from one department to another, his pay and allowances that have accrued at the time of his transfer should be drawn and disbursed in the office from which he is transferred before he proceeds to join his new department.

NOTE.—This rule reproduces the orders regarding the presentation of pay bills before the end of the month contained in articles 34 and 41 of the Civil Accounts Code, Volume I.

5. Expenditure under the control of the Commissioner for Government Examinations and the Secretary, Legislative Council.—Charges controlled by the Commissioner for Government Examinations, other than bills relating to his own office expenditure, are drawn both by officials and non-officials under his countersignature. The Commissioner should control all such expenditure by the reduction of his appropriation by the amount of each bill countersigned by him, the reduction to be effected at the time of countersignature. The Commissioner will exercise his control on the basis of the accounts actuals of each month, which he should obtain from the Accountant General on or before the 28th of each month.

The Secretary, Legislative Council, will follow the same procedure in controlling the expenditure on account of the travelling allowance of the Members of the Legislative Council.

VIII.—REPORT TO THE CONTROLLING OFFICER.

After the close of the month, each disbursing officer will, after such reconciliation with the treasury figures as may be prescribed by the chief controlling officer in consultation with the district treasury officer, forward to his immediate controlling officer an extract of his account in form A containing only sections I, II, III, IV (District totals only), V, VI, VII, IX and X, the details leading up to the District totals in IV being omitted.

IX.—ACCOUNTS OF SUBORDINATE AND CHIEF CONTROLLING OFFICERS.

1. The subordinate controlling officer should consolidate in form B the figures of his own register of disbursements (form A) and the figures contained in the reports received from his disbursing officers. The disbursements appertaining to each unit should be grouped by districts. If, owing to the number of districts or the number of disbursing officers rendering accounts, more pages than one are utilized for the purpose of consolidation, the totals should be incorporated in a separate page. The subordinate controlling officer should, after such reconciliation with the treasury figures as may be prescribed by the chief controlling officer, forward an extract of his register in form B showing only the totals of sections I to III, IV (District totals only), V, VII, VIII, X and XI. The chief controlling officer will consolidate in form B the totals of his own expenditure (form A) and the reports of the subordinate controlling officers in the manner prescribed for subordinate controlling officers.

2. The chief controlling officer will each month send to the Accountant General an extract in form B showing therein only the figures in sections I to III, IV (District totals only), V, VII and VIII under each minor and sub-head, and each primary and secondary unit. The extract should reach the Accountant General on or before the 28th day of the month following that to which the accounts relate. The Accountant General will check the figures with his own accounts, and the chief controlling officer and the Accountant General will be jointly responsible for reconciling differences in the figures and discrepancies in classification. Corrections of misclassifications will be communicated by the Accountant General to the chief controlling officer, who should forward them to his subordinate controlling and disbursing officers.

with the necessary orders for correction, or by the treasury officers to the disbursing and controlling officers with whom they reconcile their accounts.

3. The Accountant General will send to the chief controlling officer intimation of all expenditure, which has been incurred under any of the heads for which the latter is responsible, and which has come to the notice of the former through the Exchange Accounts. The chief controlling officer will carry out the adjustments directly in his own account in form A, or will communicate them to subordinate disbursing officers for entry in their account in form A, according as the charge is one for which the appropriation has been retained entirely by the controlling officer or has been distributed to disbursing officers. Care should, however, be taken to avoid double adjustments.

X.—IMPORTANT NON-RECURRING CHARGES.

Heads of departments should maintain a separate watch over important non-recurring items of contingent expenditure such as the purchase of clothing or food supplies or medicines supplied by the Military Department. Such expenditure is incurred either occasionally or at irregular intervals throughout the year, and a watch over the monthly progress of expenditure is not in such cases appropriate. Control may be exercised in one of two methods:—

(1) The chief controlling officer may retain the entire appropriation in his own hands, and appropriate funds to meet the expenditure of disbursing officers as it is incurred, on specific application by the latter in each case.

(2) The chief controlling officer may distribute the appropriations to his disbursing officers in the ordinary manner but require them to send a separate report, in addition to the monthly accounts, whenever expenditure is incurred.

Liabilities should, in the case of such items of expenditure, be reported separately and specially as soon as they have been incurred.

XI.—WATCH OF ACTUALS.

1. Every officer is directly responsible for expenditure incurred against the appropriation allotted to him under each primary and secondary unit of appropriation. He should devote particular attention to the restriction of his expenditure within the limits of his appropriation, and for this purpose he should keep a close watch over the progress of expenditure and should pay prompt attention to warnings received from the Accountant General or from his chief or subordinate controlling officer. Every officer is required to utilize the appropriations placed at his disposal for expenditure only on the objects for which the appropriations have been sanctioned, and in particular to incur no expenditure on objects the demands for which have been specifically refused by the Legislature or by Government.

2. The chief controlling officer is primarily responsible

(i) for taking precautions to prevent the incurring of expenditure in excess of the appropriations, and

(ii) for surrendering appropriations or portions thereof, which are not likely to be required during the financial year, as soon as lapses or savings are foreseen.

The fact that one of his subordinate officers has unavoidably to exceed his appropriation for any particular purpose is not a sufficient reason for a controlling officer to apply to Government for an additional appropriation, and no request should be made to Government to sanction a reappropriation or an additional or supplementary appropriation, until all possible methods by which expenditure can be confined within the sanctioned appropriation, i.e., by redistribution of appropriations already made within such powers of reappropriation as may be delegated to him or by the effecting of savings in other items of expenditure, have been exhausted.

3. A subordinate controlling officer has similar responsibilities to those of the chief controlling officer within the limit of his appropriations.

XII.—EXPENDITURE IN ENGLAND.

The High Commissioner and the Accountant General at the India Office watch the progress of expenditure against the budget allotment for expenditure in England to ensure that excesses over the budget allotment for any particular head or service are not incurred without a previous reference to the Local Government. They are also responsible for sending intimation of probable excesses, in time to enable the Local Government to decide whether a supplementary grant is necessary. All reappropriations and supplementary grants affecting expenditure in England are communicated to the High Commissioner, or to the Accountant General at the India Office, by the Finance Department. The audit of the expenditure incurred in England by the Secretary of State and by the High Commissioner is conducted by the Auditor, India Office. In order that he may discharge his responsibility with regard to appropriation audit, it is necessary that he should receive the earliest possible intimation of grants, of reappropriations affecting the grants, of supplementary appropriations and of specific refusals by the Legislature to vote grants. The Finance Department will be responsible for communicating to the Auditor, India Office, the required information in sufficient detail.

SECONDARY SCHOOL LEAVING CERTIFICATES.

PUBLIC EXAMINATION, MARCH 1935.

Notes.

Candidates in all the subjects must bring with them for use in the examination their own Pens and Pencils; these in (i) Elementary Mathematics, (ii) Algebra and Geometry, (iii) Practical Mathematics, (iv) Trigonometry, (v) Algebra, and (vi) Chemistry, their own mathematical instruments, viz., a foot-rule graduated in inches and centimeters and subdivisions, protractor, set square, dividers, compasses, a piece of rubber or eraser and a hard pencil; those in Type-writing, type-written and necessary stationery paper; and those in Commercial Principles and Geography, in Book-keeping and Commercial Arithmetic and in Drawing and Type-writing, rulers, squares, knives and ink of two or more colours (other than black ink) for map drawing, drawing lines in Book-keeping, etc.

Candidates who use graph sheets should so place them in the answer-book that the graph may face the sheet on which the corresponding question is worked and there should be no working on the back of the graph sheets.

2. Chemistry.—Candidates in this subject will be permitted, if they desire it, to use a stand for making drawings of apparatus.

3. Short-hand.—Candidates in this subject will be allowed to transcribe their shorthand notes with a type-writer. They will not be supplied with any "thick" paper for the purpose, but will be allowed to bring with them their own "thick" paper if they wish to use such paper. If the machine used by a candidate, however, goes out of order, no extra time will be given to him to compensate for loss of time while the machine is out of order, and being put right.

4. Type-writing.—Candidates who are desirous that their papers in this subject should be examined in boldness, should make the necessary arrangements with the Chief Superintendent not less than seven days before the examination in this subject and furnish him with all necessary information as to the number of candidates and machines and the time at which each batch should attend on the day fixed for the examination.

At least every two candidates must have one machine between them for the batch examination.

Inspectors of institutions concerned will be allowed into the examination room in the intervals between the examinations of the various batches to inspect the machines and to remedy any defects.

If a candidate reports to the Superintendent that his machine has gone out of order, the Superintendent will inform the fact to the instructor if he is waiting outside on the premises and will permit him to enter the room (though the candidate may be at work) to inspect the machine and to remedy the defect or to supply another machine. It must, however, be clearly understood that the Superintendent incurs no responsibility in this matter; his concern will be purely to assist, the whole responsibility resting on the candidate and the instructor. An extra time will be given to a candidate to rearrange for loss of time while the machine is out of order and being put right.

5. Needle-work and Dress-making.—Candidates must bring to the examination room scissors, thimbles, measuring tape, materials for the first work, specimens of their finished work, and sewing cotton.

6. A copy of the national list will be posted at the entrance to the examination hall a day or two before the examination, and candidates will find their numbers, viz., the numbers of their Secondary School Leaving Certificate, in this list.

7. Attention is drawn to the following rules:—

(1) No candidate will be allowed to enter the examination room unless he wears a clean and decent dress, and in all cases where good manners require it, a suitable covering for the head, nor will he be allowed to keep his shoes on unless they are shoes of English pattern and soles and laces are worn also.

No candidates suffering from any contagious diseases will be admitted to the examination room.

(2) No candidate will be allowed to quit the examination room on any day until the expiration of half an hour from the time fixed for the commencement of the examination, and candidates arriving after the expiration of that half an hour will not be admitted.

(3) No candidate will be allowed to re-enter the examination room during the hours of examination after once quitting it, nor to leave the room without finally giving up his answer.

(4) Any candidate detected in speaking to, or in any way communicating with, any other candidate will be at once removed from the room and the circumstance reported to the Secretary to the School Leaving Certificate Board, Madras, for necessary action.

(5) No candidate will be allowed to take into the examination room, slates, books, ruled sheets, manuscript or papers of any kind. Any one detected in any violation of this rule or having recourse to any unfair practice will be removed from the room and the circumstances reported to the Secretary to the School Leaving Certificate Board, Madras, for necessary action.

(6) Candidates are prohibited from using down the answer to any question on the question paper itself.

(7) Any candidate who does not behave properly towards the Chief and Assistant Superintendents of the examination or is suspected of having had recourse to malpractice of any kind is liable to have his examination invalidated and also to be debarred from appearing again for any of the examinations.

(8) Candidates whose names are not in the printed list furnished to the Superintendents must submit a written declaration through the Superintendents giving full particulars in regard to themselves, including their address, and furnish such evidence as may be possible of their having applied for admission to the examination at the proper time and paid the prescribed fees. The answers of such candidates will not be valued unless it is clear that the omission of their names is due to no fault of theirs.

(9) Candidates desiring to change their place of examination without previous permission, or appearing at any centre other than the one at which they ought to have appeared, must not expect to have their answers valued. In all cases where permission has been granted, the examination or letter permitting the change should be produced for the satisfaction of the Superintendents.

(10) A candidate having completed his paper will rise from his seat and remain standing until the Superintendents take his answer-books. Any candidate wishing to ask any question of Superintendents will press the same across, but will on no account leave his place.

(11) Any answer-books sent up without the candidate's name and number affixed will not be valued. The answer-books should be fastened together at the left-hand corner, the additional answer-books being placed below the answer-book. In the case of Book-work and Diagram-making the work of candidates should bear the name and number marked on the outside of the cover.

(12) Candidates will not be allowed to take any papers, except their question papers, out of the examination room.

(13) Candidates may have to write their answers on both sides of the paper supplied to them and in this case they will receive the necessary instructions at the point in the examination hall from the Chief Superintendent of the examination.

(14) Candidates are forbidden to tear up papers or to throw ink or papers on the floor.
